Student Self-Assessment

The nature of computer based courses is completely different from the traditional classroom environment, especially in the areas of delivery, course content and the number of assignments. Online courses offer two appealing benefits. They provide flexibility with scheduling and location. The course work can be completed anytime and anyplace that you have access to a computer. However, a computer based course requires self-discipline, good reading and writing skills, and a willingness to work independently while not having the traditional class discussion.

Please answer the following assessment to assist you in deciding if a computer based course learning is appropriate for you. Review the following questions and answer YES or NO.

Learning and Communications Skills

1. Are you a self-motivated learner?
2. Do you like to learn on your own?

Time Management Skills

1. Are you willing to spend more time on a computer based course than the traditional classroom course?
2. Do you have good time management skills?
3. Can you meet deadlines if it's up to you to set your own course work?
4. Do you often find yourself completing assignments ahead of schedule?

Technical Skills

1. Are you comfortable working on a computer?
2. Are you willing to log on once a day to check for messages and assignments?
3. Are you willing to spend long periods of time at a computer?

The more questions you answered with YES the more likely it is that you will successfully complete this Spanish I computer-based course and will be satisfied with the experience. If NO was your answer to some of the questions, you may want to seriously consider whether this kind of class will satisfy your goals and be a rewarding experience.
